

Word	Definition
City	urban area, big population
Continent	Area of land, often made of several countries.
North and South Hemisphere	Regions of the Earth, separated by the Equator.
Landscape	area of land, can have a range of features, natural or man made.
Atlantic Ocean	oceanic division (Northern hemisphere), North America + Europe
Pacific Ocean	oceanic division (Southern hemisphere) Australasia, Asia, North + South America.
Route 66	Famous route across North America (historical)
Transport	form of travel eg. car, walk, cycle

North America - Can you come on a Great American Road Trip?

Woodchester Endowed Church of England (VA) Primary School

Key Questions:

- What are North American cities like?
- What are South American cities like?
- Are South American cities similar to North American cities?
- What are the America's main environmental regions?
- What is route 66?
- Have you been along Route 66?

What should I already know?

Key Facts

Lesson 1	There are 50 states in the United States. North America contains Canada and US. The size of US is huge, we know there is a time difference between both East and West coast.
Lesson 2	South and central America. There are 12 countries in South America. We remembered the Amazon rainforest in in South America, (9 countries).
Lesson 3	To support our knowledge of cities in South and North America, we researched cities of our choice. We looked at continent, state, region, hemisphere, geographical features, transport and compared with each other.
Lesson 4	geographical features - We looked at North America and identified key features eg. Rockies in North America (mountains), desert (Arizona + Colorado), as well as oceans.
Lesson 5	We researched a city of our choice, creating a poster to advertise the region. We focused on geographical and human features.
Lesson 6
Lesson 7	